DIES IN ICE RESCUE

Frozen to death while aiding a rescue party dragging food-filled sleds to the marooned inhabitants of Smith's Island off Maryland's eastern shore in Chesapeake Bay, Quartermaster Sergeant William V. Hunter, of the Maryland state police, is being named for a hero's honors. Hunter died on the ice and six others of a rescue party of 15 nearly lost their lives when overcome by the cold.

BORAH VS. KNOX CLASH SLATED

Senator's Name To Be Entered in Illinois Primary Where Publisher Is Favorite.

LANDON'S MOVES WATCHED

Chicago Democrats Assure Roosevelt of Their State's Entire Delegation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—While developments in Chicago pointed today to a primary contest in Illinois between Sen. Borah and Col. Frank Knox for the Republican presidential nomination, Democratic spokesmen asserted here that President Roosevelt was assured of the state's entire delegation at the Democratic convention.

Announcement by Edgar J. Cooke, head of the liberal Republican voters league, that he would enter Borah's name in the Illinois primary April 14 confirmed reports here that the senator soon would expand his field again.

Politicians Very Interested

The prospect of Borah invading the home state of his prospective rival, Knox, intrigued politicians and stirred speculation over the plans of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas.

While the Republican battle lines were forming for the Illinois primary, Patrick A. Nash, Democratic national committeeman from that state asserted here that Illinois would send 58 Roosevelt pledged delegates to the national convention in Philadelphia.

Borah Decides to Fight

Borah announced he would enter Ohio after he found his friends had little chance to be named delegates to the national convention by the Republican powers in that state. He decided his only chance was to carry his battle into the primary.

CURTIS RITES HELD IN KANSAS CAPITOL

High Honors Bestowed Upon Former Vice President and Long Time Legislator.

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 11—The Kansas state capitol became a funeral chapel today for former Vice President Charles Curtis.

Honors heretofore reserved only for public officials were bestowed upon the 76-year-old vice president of the Hoover administration who died a private citizen in Washington Saturday.

He was the only Kansan ever to attain so high a political station and in addition represented his state in both houses of the congress for 34 years. State business was suspended for his funeral.

The body of Mr. Curtis, accompanied by a daughter, Mrs. Webster Knight, and his sister, Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, was to lie in state at the capitol until 3 p. m. funeral service in the state representative hall.

NEVER SAY DIE SPIRIT DEFEATS LAKE BLIZZARD

Michigan Fisherman Crawls Back to Land After Two Companions Freeze Dead in Boat.

SUCCORED BY INDIANS

Tells of Long Battle To Keep His Friends from Death; Hands and Feet Frozen.

By The Associated Press

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Feb. 11—Clayton Brown, 25-year-old fisherman given up for lost with two companions swept into Lake Michigan Saturday before a 40-mile sub-zero gale, came back today to tell how he refused to die.

Brown crawled on frozen hands and legs seven miles across rough shore ice after Claude Beardsley, 51, his father-in-law, and Earl Cunningham, coast guard surfman, froze to death in the small boat before it jammed into a floe and stuck.

Saved by Indian Family

Brown's life was saved, physicians said, by the ministration of an Indian family into whose cabin he stumbled early last night.

In a hospital here today Brown told his family of the 48-hour struggle to keep his companions from freezing and how he stumbled shoreward after the boat grounded "because I figured I'd just as soon die on my feet."

Brown and Beardsley were in a party of fishermen caught on drifting ice. Cunningham saved three of the five in the party, but was swept out into the lake after he got Brown and Beardsley into his rowboat.

Drift with Wind

"We were not afraid at first," Brown said. "When we saw we couldn't row to shore, we drifted with the wind. It was snowing hard and we could barely see each other as night fell. About dark Sunday Cunningham began to doze. When we couldn't keep him awake and when Beardsley became sleepy I whipped them with a stick I found in the boat.

"All night I kept it up but finally Cunningham, the man who gave his life for me, no longer responded. I took him in my arms and rubbed his face and hands, and wrapped him in a tarpaulin but he died, his body caked with ice.

"Beardsley gradually lost spirit after that. I forced him to move about and when we drifted into a field of ice cakes I got him out and made him walk. He grew weaker and I couldn't keep him on his feet. As well as I could tell, he died about 11 p. m. Sunday.

"As soon as it was light Monday, I started toward the shore. In some places the ice was so thin I had to work along on my stomach. I would go to sleep but my head would bump on the ice and awaken me. I went to the first cabin I saw. They wouldn't believe me at first when I told them who I was."

HIGHER TARIFF ASKED IN G.O.P. FARM BILL

McNary Offers Measure "by Request" and Says It Was Drafted by George Peek.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—A new farm bill was introduced in the senate today by Republican Leader McNary providing for increased tariffs, payments to farmers based on the domestic allotment plan and use of custom receipts to encourage production of new products and find new markets.

The measure was offered "by request." McNary said George N. Peek, who resigned recently as the administration export trade adviser, had drafted it.

Shortly after its introduction, Sen. Hastings, Republican of Delaware, attacked on the floor the Smith-Bankhead soil conservation-subsidy bill as a proposal to "control the farmers themselves and to give jobs to the thousands of Democrats who were employed under the AAA."

Democratic Leader Robinson interrupted Hastings to assert the production and the pending AAA replacement bill came within the bounds of the supreme court decision invalidating the adjustment act.

Sen. Dickinson, Republican of Iowa, was on the warpath against the administration farm bill but Sen. McNary of Oregon, Republican leader, conceded it would pass.

In a radio speech last night, Dickinson called the bill "just as unconstitutional" as the invalidated AAA.

"The delegation of power to the secretary of agriculture is [illegible] he said. "He may spend the money in whatever states he likes such as those hard hit politically [illegible]

AS SEVEN CCC BOYS WERE SNATCHED FROM A WATERY GRAVE

Seven CCC camp boys who suffered untold hardships while adrift in the open Atlantic for a night on a rapidly disintegrating ice floe, were snatched from death by rescue vessels which were guided from the skies by coast guard airplanes. Three of the marooned boys were flown to Hyannis, Mass., to be treated for exposure and the other four were put aboard the rescue ice-breaker, Harriet Lane. Mouser Enters Congress Race On Townsend Plan

Marion Man Announces as Republican Candidate on Age Pension Platform; Has Served Two Terms.

Grant E. Mouser Jr., former Eighth district congressman for two terms, today came out again for that office on the Republican ticket and announced he is "unqualifiedly in favor of the Townsend plan."

In a formal statement announcing his candidacy, Mr. Mouser outlined his views on the proposed old age pension plan, describing it as "the only way I know to decentralize the wealth of the country and to absorb the 7,000,000 unemployed by permitting older men to give way so that younger men may be absorbed in the various lines of industry."

Mr. Mouser is the first to bid for the Republican Eighth district congressional nomination at the May 12 primary. The district includes Marion, Hardin, Wyandot, Crawford, Morrow and Hancock counties and now is represented by Congressman Brooks Fletcher, a Democrat.

Father and Son Congressmen

Mr. Mouser and his father, both residents of Marion, represent one of the few father-and-son combinations that have served in congress. Mr. Mouser Jr. was elected to congress in 1928 and served until March 4, 1933, two terms. Prior to his election, he was an assistant in the Ohio attorney general's office for two years, taking that position on Jan. 1, 1927, when he resigned while serving his second term as Marion city solicitor. His father, Grant E. Mouser Sr., served in congress from 1905 to 1909.

Mr. Mouser Jr. and Mrs. Mouser live at 527 East Church street. They are parents of three children. Mr. Mouser is a member of the law firm of Mouser, Mouser & Wiant.

His announcement places Townsend candidates for the Eighth district congressional nomination on both tickets. George J. Kehrer of Bucyrus in December announced he would seek the Democratic nomination on a platform centered around support of the pension plan.

Text of Statement

The statement issued by Mr. Mouser announcing his candidacy follows:

"After numerous conferences with friends and Republicans throughout the Eighth congressional district I have decided to be a candidate for the nomination for congress from the Eighth congressional district subject to the will of the voters at the primaries, May 12.

"In my judgment, this country is facing grave problems, both economically, socially and particularly upon the question of whether we will continue to be a constitutional government or assume a dictatorship.

"I am a Republican and believe in the principles of the party, yet I have always been proud of the fact that I have been classed as a liberal so far as the rights of the oppressed are concerned.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY WILL BE OBSERVED

Banks Will Close, Schools Will Present Programs, Republicans To Hear Speaker.

The birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln will be observed in Marion Wednesday, Feb. 12, and will be given recognition tonight when the Marion County Young Republican club holds a Lincoln day supper and program.

City public and parochial schools and the county schools will observe the day Wednesday in classrooms and assemblies.

Marion banks and loan companies will be closed all day in observance of the one hundred and twenty-seventh anniversary of the Great Emancipator's birth.

All county offices will be closed all day Wednesday.

Mayor Frederick C. Smith said that he would be at work throughout the day and that whether municipal office employes will work will be left to the individuals. City Auditor L. J. Landes said his office would be open throughout the day.

Robert Barton, Columbus attorney and executive secretary of the League of Young Republican Clubs of Ohio, will be the speaker at the Marion county club's meeting tonight.

Mr. Barton will speak on "Abraham Lincoln."

His address, scheduled for 8 p. m., will be preceded by a pot-luck supper at 6:30. After the program there will be entertainment in charge of Vaughn Fox and George H. Hinkle.

General arrangements for the meeting have been in charge of Miss Ruth Crow.

O. S. U. Board Urges Overriding of Davey's Budget Action Slashing Its Funds.

LEGION UP IN ARMS, TOO

Wants Orphans' Home Items Restored; Governor Defends His Cuts as Necessary.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11—Ohio's lawmakers stood between two fires today as trustees of Ohio State university called upon the legislature to override Gov. Martin L. Davey's $544,500 vetoes in the university budget and the governor defended his cuts as necessary.

State American Legion officials have already asked all posts to bring pressure to bear upon the legislature to restore $195,000 lopped off funds allotted to the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans home at Xenia.

Lack "Sufficient Means"

University trustees adopted a resolution stating the revised appropriation bill as vetoed "deprives the board of trustees of sufficient means for the economical and the efficient operation of the university.

"The difficulties now confronting the university," the resolution said, "are such that it becomes the duty of the board to call this serious situation to the attention of the senate and the house of representatives."

The cuts reduce funds for the bureau of business research, commerce extension, engineering experiment station, medical and surgical research, library books and scientific periodicals. Other items vetoed include $66,000 in wages, $65,000 in educational and recreational supplies, and $50,000 in building repairs.

Fuel Item Retained

A $100,000 fuel item, vetoed in the first appropriation measure, was not deleted. The second appropriation bill, however, leaves the university $26,000 less than the first.

Davey defended his vetoes in his weekly radio talk last night, asserting the opposition "was conducted by the tax-spenders, aided and abetted by a few [illegible] members of the legislature in positions of influence, to raid the treasury of the state of [illegible]

DRIVE IS LAUNCHED TO SPEED UP WORK ON WPA PROJECTS

District and Local Officials Act To Prevent Further Delay in Federal Program in City and County.

A movement was under way today to speed up the preparation of WPA projects in Marion city and county so that hundreds of able-bodied relief clients could be given self-supporting jobs.

As city, county and WPA officials began a new study of the WPA situation here, complaints were heard in all quarters that there has been unnecessary delay in the assignment of men to WPA jobs in the county, especially on rural projects.

The spotlight of official attention was focused on the WPA situation here when F. R. Nicklas of Mansfield, chief WPA engineer for a district that includes Marion county, appeared before council last night and complained that delegations of Marion county relief clients and other groups were calling on him in Mansfield to learn what is holding up WPA jobs in this county.

"Even Gov. Davey wants to know what's wrong with the WPA in this county," Mr. Nicklas asserted, quoting the county commissioners as having heard the governor raise that question in a recent conference in Columbus about the Marion relief situation.

A checkup among officials this morning brought expressions from several sources that "something must be wrong," but none of the officials could offer more than a theory as to what is holding up the work.

Funds Go Rapidly

In the meantime, the county's relief load stood today well above 1,000 cases, including families and non-family persons. Relief Director John Abel has said that more than half of these cases could be taken off relief if employable clients were furnished WPA jobs that would make them self-supporting. Unless the employables are put to work soon, the $47,000 of state funds available for direct relief in this county up to July 1 will be exhausted long before that date, he has said. Even if most of the employable clients were given work at once, the available funds would not cover all of the needs of the families in which there are no employable persons, he said several days ago when he called upon the city to take over the medical care of relief families.

Another development last night was the disclosure that a huge program of rural projects prepared by the county commissioners on Jan. 25 and sent to Mansfield WPA offices for approval may be delayed for an indefinite time. This word came from Mr. Nicklas when questioned by a reporter following council meeting.

The huge program consists of 13 rural projects that would provide work for 576 relief clients. On this program rested the hope of county officials that the direct relief burden might be reduced to a point where available relief funds would cover the essential needs of clients.

Approval Not Given

These projects, Mr. Nicklas said, may be delayed for some time because they have not yet been approved at Washington. County officials, when the projects were sent to Mansfield on Jan. 25, had expressed hope that the projects would be acted on within a few days, and expected hundreds of new men to be working by the middle of this month. Today, only one of the 13 projects had been approved. Mr. Nicklas last night asserted a long list of proposed Marion county projects was made up more than a month ago and given federal approval, which made funds available for work to start. More provided the county would put up its share of the cost. [illegible] the county would [illegible] for the [illegible] ...

Stronger Army Main Topic in Congress' Halls

Bill Providing $338,782,000 for Military Purposes Set for Passage in House.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—A drive for a bigger army, including strengthened Pacific defenses, was the foremost topic today in a congress still echoing with the anti-Japanese criticism of Sen. Pittman, Democrat of Nevada, and Rep. Lewis, Democrat of Illinois.

The name of no particular foreign nation was mentioned in the house, however, as advocates of a larger armed force prepared to drive to passage by tonight the bill providing $338,782,000 for the army—a peace-time record.

"I want to see enough 16-inch guns on our coast and in our possession so that if one of these $50,000,000 modern battleships comes within 27 miles of our coast with design against us we could blow it out of the sea—and that's what we expect to do," said Rep. Blanton, Democrat of Texas.

Shortly after Sen. Pittman, chairman of the foreign relations committee, charged that Japan intends to close China's open door to America even if war is necessary to do it, Secretary Hull emphasized that the state department was not responsible for the speech.

He said he had had "no consultation" with Ambassador Hirosi Saito, Japanese ambassador, declared Japan had "no intention" of closing the door.

When told of Sen. Lewis' prediction of a Russo-Japanese alliance to control Asia and bar America, the Japanese envoy laughed and said that idea was "something new."

Ethiopian Chief Says They Were Arrested Because They Refused To Seek Safety.

By ALBERT W. WILSON
(Copyright, 1936, Associated Press)

ADDIS ABABA, Feb. 11—An American missionary and a Canadian colleague were arrested by an Ethiopian chieftain in the remote southwestern Gamo province it was learned today, but were ordered released by Crown Prince Asfa Wossn.

The men were arrested, it was learned, because they refused to move to a safer locality.

The Sudan interior missionaries, Rev. Harold Street of Paxton, Ill., and one of his colleagues, were seized at the Sudan interior mission station at Slama, 50 miles south of Chencha, capital of Gamo province, 250 miles southwest of Addis Ababa.

The missionary arrested with Rev. Street was a Canadian, John Trewin.

Rev. Street's wife is the former Mabel Ellis of Newark, O. Their four children are Miriam, 10 years old, Paul, 8, Harold, 5, and John Robert, 2.

Parties in Ohio Prepare for War

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11—Both major parties formed battle lines in Ohio today, organization Republicans seeking to block Sen. William E. Borah's presidential drive, Democrats promising to work swiftly to assure President Roosevelt his delegates to the Philadelphia convention.

Republican State Chairman Ed D. Schorr awaited replies to queries sent to a number of potential presidential candidates to ascertain "just what they have in mind with respect to their candidacies and if they want to get into the Ohio fight."

Under Secretary of the Interior Charles West told a pep meeting of sixth district Democrats "we intend to see that the (convention) credentials committee is in control of members sympathetic to the administration, and we intend to see that Roosevelt delegates are seated."

Schorr said he had explained the Ohio situation to representatives of Gov. Alf. Landon of Kansas in a mid-west city over the week-end.

"They promised to let us know," he said, "what the governor's intentions are as soon as possible after they can confer with him."

He said he had also asked Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan and several others for statements.

West, President Roosevelt's liaison man with congress, came here to approve the Ohio slate of candidates for delegates and alternates.

AMERICAN SKATERS SCORE IN OLYMPICS

U. S. Also in Challenging Position in Four-Man Bob-Sledding Championship Tilt.

By The Associated Press

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 11—The United States plunged into the thick of competition in the fourth winter Olympic games today, breaking into the scoring column for the first time on the blades of her flying speed skaters and gaining challenging positions in the four-man bob-sledding championship.

While J. Hubert Stevens' Lake Placid team turned in the fastest time of the day in the first half of the four-man bob-sledding event, Leo Freisinger of Chicago and Delbert Laino of Milwaukee produced America's initial points in the race for the unofficial skating team championship.

Neither American could challenge the Swiss-Norwegian aces, Ivar Ballangrud and George Krog, in the battle for the 500 meter speed skating crown but Freisinger finished third and Lamb fifth. Ballangrud won the championship in 43.4 seconds, equalling the Olympic record. Krog finished one-tenth of a second back.

Although Stevens' time of 1:19.17 on his second dash down the Olympic bob run was the fastest of the day, the Americans trailed Switzerland and Germany in that order, in the combined standings for the first two heats of the four-heat championship. A second American sled, piloted by Francis Tyler of Lake Placid, substituting for the injured Donna Fox, ranked sixth in the standings.

Reinforced by young Phil La Palm from Minneapolis, the United States returned to form and whipped Czechoslovakia, 2-0, in the first game of the second round robin series leading to the Olympic hockey championship.

MOUSER ENTERS RACE ON TOWNSEND PLAN

nary citizens have been concerned.

"On July 1, 1936, I am advised that the national indebtedness will reach the astounding figure of thirty-five billion dollars. The interest on the national debt is now exceeding our national income. It will be necessary to levy a huge tax burden upon the people of the country to meet past deficits when the congress convenes in 1937. We will not have solved our economic problems, yet the people will be faced with a staggering indebtedness.

"We will still have seven million people who are heads of families out of work.

"According to the census of 1930, the average family in America consists of between four and five. Multiplying the unemployed who will be out of jobs even in prosperous times because of the advance of science and the machine age in which we are living, we will have conservatively twenty-eight million of our people affected by the lack of ability in this land of opportunity, which the expenditure of huge sums of government money will not cure.

"Therefore, it becomes necessary to think in the terms of social security for the future happiness, welfare and stability of mankind.

"I am, therefore, unqualifiedly in favor of the Townsend plan and I am not just a fair weather friend of this solution of our economic ailments, since I have long advocated this plan. It is the only way I know to decentralize the wealth of the country which has come into the hands of a few and to absorb the seven million unemployed by permitting older men to give way so that younger men may be absorbed in the various lines of industry.

"This plan calls for a transaction tax which will spread the wealth of the country among the people and will make everybody prosperous, despite the bugaboo and fear held out by certain selfish interests who have always opposed humanitarian legislation. The money obtained will not be fiat money but honest American dollars raised by direct taxation, and the spending power thereby developed in my humble judgment will result in permanent prosperity if properly controlled.

"Everybody knows that during the World war we had prosperity because of the outlay of billions of dollars borrowed from the people. It is time to quit borrowing and to think in terms of the modern day in which we are living, and distribute to the rank and file of the citizens of the country a fair share of the wealth and thereby not permit the money to be in the hands of Wall Street and its bankers. Why shouldn't stock manipulations be taxed?

"We are now paying billions out in pensions, sales taxes and other taxes, both direct and indirect, with the constant growing up of commissions and bureaucracies, and it is time that both political parties speak in terms of practical humanitarianism, having in mind the future stability of the republic and its people.

"The Townsend plan will help the young as well as the old because if business is prosperous people are employed and they have a spending power which reflects to the general welfare of all.

"It is my opinion that my party will see the vision and provide a plank in its platform for old age security.

"I am a firm believer in the Constitution of the United States of America as one of the three branches of government as a check and balance upon the executive and the legislative branches of government."

projects late last summer and early in the fall, but we never heard what became of them," the surveyor said. "I think we should have been notified about it even if the projects were rejected. At least we should have been told what was wrong with them so we wouldn't submit more projects that can't be approved."

The only bright spot in today's WPA picture was the announcement that two new projects were started in Marion county yesterday and today and a third is set to get under way Wednesday.

LaRue Work Starts

Work on the new LaRue community center and municipal building was started yesterday and construction of a new drive and other work at the Marion county children's home began today. Improvement of the Branch Croft ditch west of Caledonia is to be started Wednesday.

One foreman, one supervisor, a timekeeper and 13 laborers are employed on the LaRue community center, with more scheduled to be added as the work progresses. The interior of the old opera house will be remodeled and the building, when completed, will house virtually all village governmental and civic agencies. Total cost of the project is figured at $9,567, of which $5,157 will be expended by the federal government, and $4,409 by local sponsors.

Work at the children's home includes construction of a new drive and curb, landscaping of the grounds and repairs to the building where needed. Twelve men, including one foreman and a timekeeper, are employed on the project to start. The men have been transferred from the completed city schools administration building.

The Caledonia ditch project will employ 18 men, all taken from relief rolls in that township.

Urges More Projects

One of the purposes of Mr. Nicklas' appearance before council last night was to seek the city's help in financing additional projects to provide an abundance of work for relief clients in the city and county. Most of the county's relief burden is in the city, and the city should help finance local projects, he said.

He called attention to a list of federally-approved projects for Marion that would provide six months' work for 1,400 men and cost $314,600. Of that amount, $244,600 would be furnished by the federal government and $70,000 by the city. He roughly estimated the city might handle its part of the program for $50,000 cash and the use of equipment. The program, he emphasized, would not have to be accepted in its entirety. Any part of it could be set up for work.

City Engineer T. S. Cathers was provided with a copy of the projects several weeks ago, he said.

One of the projects in this list is the proposed rebuilding or repairing of sidewalks throughout the business district of the city, an improvement considered late last year but delayed for later consideration.

Council President Russell C. Snare said he would ask City Engineer T. S. Cathers to go over the projects with the council finance committee and study the availability of funds. He said the council might meet later with WPA and county officials to see what projects might be considered.

Mayor Frederick C. Smith, however, gave Mr. Nicklas a different answer. "Mr. Nicklas," he said, "the city hasn't got a dime—not even a nickel—that possibly could be used for this work. Take back the story to the federal government that we haven't the money and we have no way to raise it." The mayor added that he thought a study of the projects and proposed conference with the county and WPA officials were doomed to disappointment. "The question will come back to the finance committee as to how to get money for this work. There simply isn't any."

U. S. TAX INSPECTORS CONTINUE WORK HERE

More Marion County Residents Convicted of Liquor Violations Appear.

The parade of convicted Marion county bootleggers to the court house continued today as two representatives of the internal revenue office in Columbus opened hearings for the second day for persons accused of engaging in illicit liquor traffic to show reason why they should not pay the federal occupational tax.

The hearings opened yesterday and are to continue through Wednesday. When the federal men have completed their work it is expected that approximately 70 liquor law violators will have appeared before them.

It was understood that the federal "rap" being handed out to the majority of convicted persons is a $12.50 penalty and a $10 fine in addition to an assessment of back occupational tax.

The annual occupational tax, which is understood to be $25, goes into effect each July 1. While the two inspectors declined to give any information regarding their work, it was learned from an authoritative source that the bootleggers are required to pay the amount of tax due from the time of their arrest to the end of the tax year, June 30. In addition they are being assessed $12.50 for failure to pay the tax, and $10 fine for failure to take out a license. If they are unable to pay up on the spot they are given a reasonable length of time in which to do so.

Failure to obey the instructions of the federal men makes a violator liable to a fine of from $1,000 to $5,000 and imprisonment in a federal penal institution, it was understood.

TAX MEN MENTION $900,000,000 FIGURE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 — Tax sources estimated to provide from $500,000,000 to $900,000,000 annually today were reported under consideration by administration experts for revenue to finance the new farm program and pay the old AAA's obligations.

President Roosevelt has said half a billion dollars would be needed to finance the subsidy-soil conservation farm plan. Capitol leaders have predicted additional revenue would not be asked for the bonus payment law.

But in canvassing sources for revenue, it was learned that three particular fields were receiving attention:

1. Enactment of excise taxes on processing of farm commodities to raise about $460,000,000.

2. Enactment of other taxes to raise from $230,000,000 to $250,000,000.

3. Enactment of retroactive excess profit or special income taxes to recover from processors the $200,000,000 in impounded taxes returned to manufacturers under the supreme court ruling in the rice millers' case.

SLIGHT HOPE HELD FOR ARMY FLIER

By The Associated Press

MARCH FIELD, Calif., Feb. 11—Searchers today found evidence that Lieut. John T. Helms, long-missing army flier, had crawled away from his wrecked plane, unbuckled his parachute and walked away.

There was little hope, however, that Helms, fiance of movie actress, Toby Wing, would be found alive now. He disappeared on a flight last Dec. 30.

FOUR WPA WORKERS KILLED AT CROSSING

Auto Speeds into Path of Express Train in Indiana; Frosted Glass Blamed.

By The Associated Press

GARY, Ind., Feb. 11 — Four WPA workers were killed today when an automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train on a crossing near here.

The victims were Peter Meter, 50; Garrett Vanderhook, 50; John Krit, 45, all of Munster, Ind.; and Cornelius Ver Back, 45, of Highland, Ind. All except Krit, the driver, who died later in a Hammond hospital, were killed instantly.

CEMETERY INQUIRY ON AT COLUMBUS

Marion Men Summoned for Grand Jury Questioning.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11—Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins announced today he would institute a grand jury investigation into cemetery lot promotions in Franklin and adjoining counties.

Hoskins said subpoenas, returnable before the grand jury Thursday afternoon, had been issued for Robert Marshall of Marion, founder of cemetery associations near Marion and Springfield, and C. A. Klunk of Marion, who was described as president of the associations' boards of trustees.

The Columbus better business bureau, Hoskins said, requested the inquiry and was aiding it through assignment of counsel, John J. Chester Jr., former Franklin county prosecutor.

Hoskins declined to disclose whether any evidence had been assembled but said "rumors and reports" reaching his office prompted issuing the subpoenas which called for delivering the associations' books and records.

Mr. Klunk, Forest Glen president, said here today that he had no statement to make regarding the investigation. Mr. Marshall was not in Marion today and could not be reached for a statement.

RADIO PROGRAM TO HONOR LINCOLN

Noted Actor To Give Gettysburg Address; Hoover To Speak.

Included in radio network broadcasts Wednesday in observance of Abraham Lincoln's birthday will be a dramatic recitation of the martyred President's Gettysburg address by Charles Laughton, distinguished British actor.

In addition to the Lincoln memorial programs several political blasts have been scheduled, including one by Herbert Hoover on the "State of the Union." Hoover will be heard at 10 p. m. over NBC-WEAF network, including WTAM.

At 6:15 p. m. NBC-WJZ network will carry the voice of Charles Laughton via short wave from London, England. The delivery of the Gettysburg address was a memorable moment in one of Laughton's finest pictures, "Ruggles of Red Gap." A program will be broadcast from Lincoln's tomb at Springfield, Ill., over the Columbia network at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The National Republican club Lincoln day dinner at 10:30 p. m. over NBC-WJZ network will be featured by talks by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, prominent presidential possibility, and Col. Theodore Roosevelt, president of the club.

HOLD LITTLE HOPE FOR BREAK IN COLD

would necessitate increasing the retail price, he explained.

It was understood that some of the local dealers are limiting consumers to purchases of a half-ton and ton at a time.

Meanwhile County Relief Director John Abel announced today that distribution of coal to relief clients has been cut to a half ton to conserve the available supply. The families have been getting a ton at a time. Eight local dealers are out of Ohio coal, he said, which is the only grade distributed to relief clients.

Atlantic Coast Gets Cold Spell

CHICAGO, Feb. 11—Mid-eastern states dug their way out from under an avalanche of snow and ice today, while the Atlantic seaboard held its breath as continued cold was predicted generally.

For many sections of the eastern coast more snow was forecast tomorrow.

Corn belt states had slightly warmer weather and bright sunshine yesterday, which enabled thousands to shovel railroad rights of way and main roads to normalcy.

The spectre of want remained in many isolated sections. Coal was rationed in places by the sack, in others by the ton. Milk and food shortages continued. Feed was distributed in some states for birds and game.

Many persons remained marooned in isolated places, but several spectacular rescues were effected yesterday.

INDUSTRIAL ACTION HEARING HELD HERE

A hearing for Colby Hill of Marion, before a state industrial commission referee in common pleas court room here yesterday has been continued to an indefinite date.

The hearing for Hill, who seeks to participate in the state workmen's compensation fund for an injury he allegedly suffered while employed at Forest Glen Memorial park in June of 1934, was continued when a witness could not appear today.

Hill says he suffered a badly burned finger June 17, 1934, while attempting to start a water pumping engine at the park, and that the finger has not healed.

FIGHT UNDERGROUND FIRE

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Feb. 11—Works progress administration engineers began preliminary surveys today on a $232,000 project in cooperation with the United States bureau of mines to halt a 31-year-old coal mine fire creeping slowly through a 14-foot seam. It has made a large area uninhabitable and turned the soil into red, barren ground.

OIL CO. SALESMEN HOLD MEETING HERE

Standard Oil Co. salesmen of the Marion division met at Hotel Harding last night to hear talks by division leaders on prospects and plans for 1936.

Speakers were E. C. Bourquin, division manager, and J. P. Sharkey, assistant manager. Both men outlined business prospects and proposals for the current year. Out of town salesmen present included representatives from Kenton, Bucyrus, Delaware and Tiffin. A dinner preceded the business meeting and talks.

FREEDOM OF PRESS DEFENDED BY COURT

Supreme Tribunal Upholds Newspapers in Case Against Louisiana Tax Law.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—The supreme court yesterday invalidated the Louisiana tax against newspaper, magazine and motion picture advertising. Thirteen newspapers challenging the tax law said it violated the "freedom of the press" and punished them for opposing the late Senator Huey P. Long.

"The newspapers, magazines and other journals of the country, it is safe to say, have shed and continue to shed more light on the public and business affairs of the nation than any other instrumentality of publicity," the supreme court ruling held.

The tax restrained the press "by curtailing revenue from advertising and by a tendency to restrict circulation."

"Since informed public opinion is the most potent of all restraints upon misgovernment, the suppression or abridgement of the publicity afforded by a free press can not be regarded otherwise than with grave concern."

The tax "is bad because, in the light of its history and of its present setting, it is seen to be a deliberate and calculated device in the guise of a tax to limit the circulation of information to which the public is entitled in virtue of the constitutional guarantee."

Newspapers are not "immune from any of the ordinary forms of taxation for support of the government."

"A free press stands as one of the great interpreters between the government and the people."

If held valid and increased to a high degree, the tax "well might result in destroying both advertising and circulation."

It is "unconstitutional under the due process of law clause because it abridges the freedom of the press."

MAN FINED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Lester J. Sopher, 38, of Congress street was fined $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday to a charge of illegal possession of liquor. He paid and was released.

He was arrested when police were called to a Buckeye street address Sunday at 8:14 p. m. where he had parked his car on the sidewalk. Upon investigation police said they found approximately a half pint of liquor on his person.

MAN BOUND OVER ON CHECK CHARGE

B. E. Dunn, 33, of 550 East Center street, was bound over to the grand jury by Municipal Judge William R. Martin, when he pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday to a charge of issuing a check with insufficient funds.

The charge, filed by Harry E. Moyer, alleges that Dunn issued the check on or about Jan. 24 in the amount of $10 on an Upper Sandusky bank. He was taken into custody Sunday afternoon at the East Center street address by Marion police. Bond of $500 was set following his hearing.

LUMBER DEALERS TO MEET TONIGHT

Members of the Retail Lumber Dealers association of District No. 11 will hold their monthly meeting tonight at the Hotel Harding. W. J. Gorton of Marion will preside in the absence of Stanley Acres, president, of Delaware.

Association members from Marion, Morrow, Crawford, Hardin Delaware and Wyandot counties are expected to attend the meeting.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged intestines or constipation.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help the intestines in a soothing, healing way. When the bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

DEMERITS BANNED IN POSTOFFICES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—The postoffice department said today it planned to wipe off all "demerits" against postal employes and start afresh on a new system to "give the man a break."

Postal officials said the new system is aimed at:

"Eliminating the human element in rating postal employes.

"Giving the man a chance to wipe out his demerits with merits.

"Separating the demerits from the efficiency rating, so that one or two 'unfortunate incidents' will not ruin a man's efficiency record."

End Bad Cough Quickly, at One Fourth the Cost

Home Mixed! No Cooking! Easy!

Millions of housewives have found that by mixing their own cough medicine they get a much more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs only one-fourth as much as ready made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up distressing coughs.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, helping clear the air passages and soothing away the irritation has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine famous for its soothing effect on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Men of Shrine Hosts To Women At Temple Party

THE men of Marion Shrine No. 15 Order of White Shrine of Jerusalem entertained the women at a valentine party last evening in the dining room of the Masonic temple. More than 100 members were present.

A feature of the evening was a postoffice at which each person received a valentine. Elmer Bondley served as postmaster, A. M. Hunter as special messenger and Anna Conrad as clerk.

The program included an address by Phyllis Tierney, accompanied at the piano by Miss Marilyn Meeske and by Jane Miller and Jean Swope accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Bert Swope, several musical saw selections by Mr. Bondley, a poem by Glen Smith and a tone poem by Judge Oscar Gest.

Valentine refreshments were served by the men.

E. J. Salter, watchman of shepherds, was general chairman of arrangements assisted by the following chairmen: Mr. Bondley, entertainment; William Laughman, dining room; Emil Swope, kitchen; George Greiser, registration; John E. Beer served as master of ceremonies.

In a business session preceding the party, the shrine charter was draped for Mrs. Stacy Ullom, a charter member. Announcement was made of a luncheon meeting of the sewing circle Wednesday with Mrs. Swope of 637 Girard avenue and of a card party Thursday night at the Legion Dugout, sponsored by the shrine patrol. The annual birthday dinner will be served at 6 p. m. Feb. 21 at the temple. A business meeting will be held Feb. 21.

WEDDINGS

Saturday Wedding Is Announced

The marriage of Miss Margaret Burris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Burris of Carling on, and Richard Thomas, son of Mrs. Hattie Thomas of North Main street, is announced today by the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. Oscar V. Latta of the Oakland Evangelical church at the parsonage on Bellefontaine avenue. Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Dickason of Marion, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were the attendants. The bride was in black crepe with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will live in Marion.

MT. OLIVE GRANGE HOLDS MEETING

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP, Feb. 11—The Mt. Olive Grange met Thursday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall. Announcement was made of the officers' banquet to be held Feb. 26 at the Forest Lawn church in Marion. The master appointed Mrs. Lenh Wasserbeck, Mrs. Grace Schwanderer and Mrs. Alice Reynolds to the flower committee for the coming year.

Three applications were received for membership. Frank Clay and Fred Schlerzer were appointed on the investigation committee. The officers will furnish the program for the next meeting Feb. 20 with Harold Hedges, Floyd Uncapher and Edwin Schwanderer in charge. The program included a piano duet by Lenh and Ruth Oesterle; violin solo by Lester Smith; talk by Harold Hedges and a debate, the question being Resolved That the cow is more important to the farmer than chickens. Affirmative team included Mrs. John Ruth and Mrs. Fred Schertzer. Negative: Fred Schertzer and Edwin Schwanderer. The decision was in favor of the negative.

Mrs. Eliza Ruth entertained the Methodist M. I. society Friday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Grace Schwanderer, had charge of the business meeting and also read devotionals with prayer by Mrs. Cecil Fagle. Seventeen members and four guests were present. The guests were Mrs. George Baker, Mrs. Conner, Mrs. Frank Lynch and Mrs. Alma Minshall. A playlet was given by Mrs. Edna Bricker and Mrs. Glenn Pickley. The next meeting will be March 6 with Mrs. Clara Smith, west of town.

Bucyrus, Marion Musicians Play On Club Program

MEMBERS of the Marion Lecture-Recital club were joined by George M. Wolfe of Bucyrus as guest soloist, and Robert Dellinger of Marion, guest accompanist, in an night's program in the Hotel Harding ballroom.

The program was arranged to give the audience a varied selection of voice, violin and piano numbers.

The occasion marked the first appearance of Mr. Wolfe before a Marion audience and was the first time the club has heard Mr. Dellinger, a former member of the junior music club, as an accompanist. I also marked the first appearance this season for the pianist, Mrs. R. O. Bresler and Mrs. J. C. Woods and the sextet composed of Miss Lucille Fenner, Miss Harriet Ann Nippert, first sopranos; Miss Virginia Scranton, Miss Bertha LeMasters, second sopranos and Mrs. Martha Schmidt and Mrs. Evelyn Harden, altos.

The program opened with an interesting paper on Ensemble Music by Miss Eleanor Barnard and a group of two numbers by the sextet. They sang first, "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Winds," Fisher and second a difficult characterization in the form of an anthem, "Listen to the Lambs" by Dett.

Mr. Wolfe played three numbers, his first, the first movement of Seventh Concerto by Pierre Rode and his second, the most difficult, the adagio movement of Handel's First Sonata. The third number of his group was "Danse Izigoner" by Nachez, a gay and colorful interpretation which the audience thoroughly enjoyed and which he seemed to enjoy equally as well in playing. The first number provided an opportunity to hear Mr. Dellinger in the length score which preceded the violin part. Mr. Wolfe, a talented soloist, is a junior in the Bucyrus High school and a member of the Marion Civic orchestra.

Mrs. Bresler at the first piano and Mrs. Woods playing the second, were entirely adequate to the interpretations of their two numbers, "Chaminades 'Andante and Scherzettico'" and the majestic Prelude M'Blaire" by Pachmanoff, both of which were heartily appreciated by the audience.

Three numbers the most charming of which was "Sparkling Sunlight," by Ardil sung by the sextet closed the program. In this group as in the opening one the voices blended unusually well and were particularly pleasing. Completing the group were "The Morning Breeze," Branscombe and "Overtones," Raabach. The sextet is directed by Mrs. B. L. Wallace.

The program was in charge of Miss Norma Ely, Mrs. announced a meeting juvenile music club ... Association room.

"Hello," said Frankie's voice. "Is Frankie there?" said Bobby in... quickly.

"I shall want the car at ten o'clock to take me up to London.

"Very good, your ladyship," Bobby replaced the receiver.

"When does one say 'my lady' and when does one say 'your ladyship?' he cogitated. "I ought to know, but I don't. It's the sort of thing that will lead a real chauffeur or butler to catch me out."

At the other end, Frankie hung up the receiver and turned to Roger Bassington-ffrench.

"It's a nuisance," she observed lightly, "to have to go up to London today. All owing to Father's fuss."

"Still," said Roger, "you'll be back this evening?"

"Oh, yes."

"I'd half thought of asking you if you'd give me a lift to town," said Roger carelessly.

Frankie paused for an infinitesimal second before her answer—given with an apparent readiness.

"Why, of course," she said.

"But on second thought I don't think I will go up today," went on Roger. "Henry's looking even odder than usual. Somehow I don't very much like leaving Sylvia alone with him."

"I know," said Frankie.

"Are you driving yourself?" asked Roger casually as they moved away from the telephone.

"Yes, but I shall take Hawkins. I've got some shopping to do as well and it's a nuisance if you're driving yourself—you can't leave the car anywhere."

"Yes, of course."

He said no more, but when the car came around, Bobby at the wheel very stiff and correct of demeanor, he came out on the doorstep to see her off.

"Good-bye," said Frankie.

Under the circumstances she did not think of holding out a hand, but Roger took hers and held it a minute.

"You are coming back?" he said with curious insistence.

Frankie laughed. "Of course. I only meant good-bye till this evening."

"Don't have any more accidents."

"I'll let Hawkins drive if you like."

She sprang in beside Bobby, who touched his cap. The car moved off down the drive. Roger still standing on the steps looking after it.

"Bobby," said Frankie, "do you think it possible that Roger might fall for me?"

"Has he?" inquired Bobby.

"Well, I just wondered."

"I expect you know the symptoms pretty well," said Bobby. But he spoke absently.

Frankie shot him a glance. "Has anything—happened?" she asked.

"Yes, it has, Frankie, I've found the original of the photograph!"

"You mean—the one—the one you talked so much about—the one that was in the dead man's pocket?"

"Yes."

"Bobby! I've got a few things to tell you, but nothing to this. Where did you find her?"

Bobby jerked his head back over his shoulder. "In Dr. Nicholson's nursing home."

"Tell me."

Carefully and meticulously Bobby described the events of the previous night. Frankie listened breathlessly.

"Then we are on the right track," she said. "And Dr. Nicholson is mixed up in all this! Bobby, I'm afraid of that man."

"What is he like?"

"Oh! big and forceful—and he watches you. Very intently behind glasses. And you feel he knows all about you."

"When did you meet him?"

"He came to dinner."

She described the dinner party and Dr. Nicholson's insistent dwelling on the details of her "accident."

"I felt he was suspicious," she ended up.

"It's certainly queer his going into details like that," said Bobby. "What do you think is at the bottom of all this business, Frankie?"

"Well, I'm beginning to think that your suggestion of a dope gang isn't such a bad guess after all."

"With Dr. Nicholson as the head of the gang?"

"Yes. That nursing home business would be a very good cloak for that sort of thing."

"That seems plausible enough," agreed Bobby.

"I haven't told you yet about Henry Bassington-ffrench."

Bobby listened attentively to her description of her host's idiosyncracies. "His wife doesn't suspect?"

"I'm sure she doesn't."

"What is she like? Intelligent?"

"I never thought exactly. No, I suppose she isn't very. And yet in some ways she seems quite shrewd. A frank, pleasant woman."

"And our Bassington-ffrench?"

"There I'm puzzled," said Frankie slowly. "Do you think, Bobby, that just possibly we might be all wrong about him?"

"Nonsense!" said Bobby. "We worked it all out and decided that he must be the villian of the piece."

"Because of the photograph?"

"Because of the photograph." No one else could have changed that photograph for the other."

"I know," said Frankie. "But that one incident is all that we have against him."

Bobby looked at her coldly. "Did you say that he had fallen for you, or that you had fallen for him?" he inquired politely.

Frankie flushed. "Don't be so absurd, Bobby. I just wondered if there couldn't be some innocent explanation—that's all."

"I don't see that there can be. Especially now that we've actually found the girl in the neighborhood."

That seems to clinch matters. If we only had some inkling as to who the dead man was—"

"Oh, but I have. I'm nearly sure that the murdered man was somebody called Alan Carstairs."

"You know," said Bobby, "we really are getting on. Let's spread out our facts and see what sort of job we can make of it."

He paused for a moment and the car slackened speed as though in sympathy.

"First, we'll assume that you are right about Alan Carstairs. He certainly fulfills conditions. Alan Carstairs comes down to Staverly with these people—what did you say their name was—?"

"Rivington. There's a possible channel of inquiry there. In fact I think we ought to follow it up."

"We will. Very well, Carstairs, comes down to Staverley with the Rivingtons. Now, is there anything in that?"

"You mean did he get them to bring him down here deliberately?"

"That's what I mean. Or was it just a casual chance? Was he brought down here by them, and did he then come across the girl by accident just as I did? I presume he knew her before or he wouldn't have had her photograph on him."

"The alternative being," said Frankie thoughtfully, "that he was already on the track of Nicholson and his gang."

"And used the Rivingtons as a means of getting to this part of the world naturally."

"That's quite a possible theory," said Frankie. "He may have been on the track of this gang."

"Or simply on the track of the girl."

"The girl?"

"Yes. She may have been abducted. He may have come over to England to find her."

"Well, but if he had tracked her down to Staverley why should he go off to Wales?"

"Obviously, there's a lot we don't know yet," said Bobby.

"Evans," said Frankie thoughtfully. "We don't get any clues as to Evans."

They were both silent for a moment or two. Then Frankie woke up to her surroundings.

"My dear, we're actually at Putney Hill. It seems like five minutes. Where are we going and what are we doing?"

"That's for you to say. I don't even know why we've come up to town."

"The journey to town was only an excuse for getting a talk with you."

Tomorrow Bobby becomes another person entirely.

SCIENTIFIC REPORT FAVORS BRAN

Relieves Common Constipation* Safely

Read this statement, taken from an article in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, pages 133-134, Nov., 1932:

"The inclusion in the diet of a small portion of bran . . . would seem a very practical way of getting fiber which is not likely to be disintegrated. This bran has the additional advantage of furnishing a considerable amount of vitamin B and of readily available iron."

Exhaustive tests, over a period of five years, have proved Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to be a safe, effective way to correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk" or fiber in meals. It is accepted by the American Medical Association Committee on Foods for this purpose.

You will enjoy this pleasant way to prevent the dangers of constipation. You can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream. Or cook into delicious breads and muffins.

Usually two tablespoonfuls apiece daily are enough to protect your family from common constipation.*

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"ZERO
—and getting colder every minute"

IT TAKES A FORD V-8 TO START IN WEATHER LIKE THIS

"IN THIS territory," says a letter from Grayling, Mich., "we have cold weather that is cold weather. Zero and below mean nothing in this part of the state. You can't beat a Ford V-8 for starting quickly and surely when the temperature is that low."

This is only one of many tributes to the cold-weather performance of the Ford V-8. You can depend on it for 100% service in any temperature—at any time of the year. The Ford is "The Universal Car"—used by millions of people in every section of the world—and it has to be made to stand up under hard service. You can buy it right now and be sure that winter won't hurt it. And save the cost of new tires, a new battery, and a tune-up for your old car.

The Ford is in a class by itself for winter driving because of its V-8 design, high-quality materials and precision manufacture. You don't have to coddle it. Fine-car construction means fine-car performance. Ask your Ford dealer about the new $25-a-month and UCC 6% finance plans.

American Politician.

Few men ever were described more accurately by the phrase American politician than Charles Curtis Heritage training and environment combined to make him a truly representative man of the American people

Mr Curtis who was 76 years old last Jan 25 entered politics by way of law He began the practice of law in Topeka, Kan in 1881 Three years later he became county attorney Twelve years after he became a lawyer he was elected to the national house of representatives

He was reelected to the house until 1906 when he was elected to the senate Thereafter the senate was his background In 1914 he was elected to the senate for a second term and served continuously until he was nominated for the vice presidency of the United States in 1928 He campaigned effectively in behalf of the ticket and was rewarded with 444 of the 531 electoral votes cast for Herbert Hoover and himself

Mr Curtis was not a great man but he was a substantial man typical of his age in the United States—one of the many solid characters who participated in the development of the United States from a loose coalition of jealous states to a powerful union

Let Sam Do It.

The League of Nations committee of oil experts has found what everybody knew was going to be found—that an oil embargo against Italy would be inadvisable without the complete cooperation of the United States

Such a conclusion however entails more than appears on the surface The League of Nations does not want to lay down an oil embargo against Italy except as a last resort France particularly is afraid of the consequences

While the league has been deliberating Italy has stored an important quantity of oil thereby making immediate effectiveness of an embargo impossible Conceivably Italy might defy an oil embargo thus leaving the league holding the bag

The United States is not the only important potential source of oil whose cooperation is questionable Russia and Rumania both members of the league, might refuse to participate in an embargo Both have oil to sell

An embargo would entail the unpleasant duty of enforcing it The British navy would be the logical policeman and the British navy has other things to consider besides doing the league's dirty work Great Britain and Italy aren't on good terms but His Majesty's government isn't anxious to invite strained relations with other powers

In short there are several good reasons besides the fact the United States is outside the League of Nations why that guardian of peace should think twice before tempting war with an oil embargo against Italy But Uncle Sam makes a good scapegoat

The National Emergency

Emergency is a word which has been worked to death the last three years In the latter part of 1932 and during all of 1933 it was the warrant for a series of unprecedented actions whose consequences are only now becoming plain

The word never was defined exactly Usually it implied that unless a certain thing were done there would be a disaster The country accepted that explanation unquestioningly until it began to appear that the implication was being stretched too far

Inevitably there was to come a time when men would question the existence of emergency The fact that there was an emergency and that certain things were done to meet an emergency made its ultimate dissolution certain Neither men nor nations exist indefinitely in a state of emergency Either the emergency passes or it becomes the established order and a newer and greater emergency becomes potential

The federal government however has seemed reluctant to say that the emergency is over To make matters more confusing some of its more enthusiastic spokesmen claim that a new and better order of things has been instituted even while they persist in using the excuse of an emergency to enforce the new deals theory of government

It has become an increasingly common question of late as to Roosevelt administration intention of ever declaring flatly that the national emergency has passed and that in the future the government will be conducted on a normal basis While some new deal defenders quote figures to prove that all danger has been averted and others employ invective to persuade voters that they exist in the midst of danger, opposition critics try to prove that everything still is in a deplorable condition and that the path to improvement must be cleared by declaring the emergency at an end The whole thing is a tangle of contradiction Maybe as some skeptics suggest the emergency was nothing but a bad dream caused by economic indigestion

Looking At The Record.

Sen Borah's recent pat beat a third and expectation that he is going to formally his bid for delegates to the Republican convention in the near future has started his friends and proponents to looking at the record Both will find many interesting things

Chief among them is the fact Sen Borah will be 71 years old next June That is the most important detail even though it has nothing to do with the senator's principles Whatever influence he may have before next November Sen Borah is too old to be considered seriously as a presidential candidate

Other details are these

Sen Borah has a perfect record of criminal allegiance to the Republican party At the same time he has an unbroken record of resistance to monetary theories fostered up by the Republican party

He is devoted to the Constitution But has quickened the popularity of appointing the supreme court to rule against legislation by a narrow majority He is devoted to states rights but supported national prohibition He is a friend of organized labor But before getting elected to congress was a corporation lawyer and once prosecuted a group of labor leaders on charges growing out of labor activities

He voted against the agricultural adjustment bill but voted for the amendments to the bill He voted against the Guffey coal bill but voted for the Wagner labor disputes bill His new deal record is too liberal to satisfy conservatives but is not liberal enough to satisfy radicals

These are but a few high points of the record They suggest that the gentlemen who are scanning Sen Borah's past performances for clues to his present political character may run into a great deal of trouble It is not unlikely they will end up by agreeing that he is a progressive and letting the public decide what that means

Definitely Established.

The winter of 1935-36 has accomplished something besides stimulating the coal industry, the clothing industry freezing the chinch bugs, protecting the winter wheat and invigorating a lethargic population It has closed forever the mouths of reminiscers who recalled with savage satisfaction the rigors of old-fashioned winters

There have been snowdrifts this winter as deep as any recalled by the oldest inhabitants There have been temperatures which emptied thermometer tubes to a lower level than had been reached for decades There have been as many frozen ears and fingers as there used to be in the good old days There have been and to any dozens of deaths caused directly by the severe weather

Many groups have been marooned by snow There has been and still is a coal shortage For days at a time millions of persons have huddled in a vast white stillness penetrated only by the eerie sounds of crunching snow and crackling ice It is definitely established that the winter of 1935-36 is going to become one of those gulleys stars to current history like the year of the big drouth the year of the big flood and the year that the barn burned down

Battleship Complex.

Admirals know exactly why it is necessary for the United States to have large battleships The reason has something to do with the fact that the larger the ship the more fuel it can carry which is important to the United States because it hasn't many fueling stations

It is interesting therefore to be reassured that the United States will not yield in the London naval conference to pressure from foreign admirals for small battleships Very likely they have something up their sleeves besides what rightfully belongs there

This country will continue to build its battleships as large as possible Other naval powers can build small ones if they like them that way but they can't expect the United States to see any merit in their fondness for smaller ships After all this is the country which has the world's tallest buildings its largest automobiles its largest railroad stations its vastest movie palaces its heaviest locomotives and the greatest national deficit The battleship complex is too well established to be uprooted in a naval conference

CARDINGTON NEWSPAPER

So far as history records the village of Cardington in Morrow county has had only one newspaper The Morrow County Independent

It was established by Charles Maxwell in 1856 under the name of the Cardington Plain A copy of the twenty fifth issue dated Oct 30 1856 gives G D Hastings as proprietor The second year of its publication it was called the Morrow County Herald

During the exciting period of the Civil war its editor was D B Holcomb and in September 1865 the name was changed to the Cardington Reveille with C B Lindsey as editor In 1867 it appeared as the Cardington Republican with Ed James as editor and a few years later it was called the Cardington Independent An issue of March 15 1875 bore the present name with S Brown as editor In the later 70s and early 80s W S Ensign was publisher.

Interest in Currency Question Increases

Possibility of the Issuance of More Money Against Government's Gold Reserves Is Responsible

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON Feb 11—Public interest in the exact status of the gold bullion owned by the treasury—some ten billions of dollars—has been quickened by the proposals of a senate committee that additional currency be issued against the gold

Last week this correspondent pointed out that the gold bullion was pledged as collateral and that it would be tantamount to a violation of the contract between the federal reserve banks and the treasury to issue greenback currency against the gold held there in trust Now many letters are coming in from different parts of the country asking how it happened that the gold surrendered by the American people in 1933 has gotten into the ownership of the banks

This seems to indicate a widespread unfamiliarity with the kind of a gold standard under which America is operating today Indeed it is vital for the citizen to know that entirely apart from the great argument over whether it was moral or immoral to devalue the gold content of the dollar the arrangement now set up by act of congress does embrace what might be truly called a sound monetary system While it does not yet go as far as is desirable toward the establishment of complete confidence the fact remains that America in her monetary practice has moved in conformity with advanced monetary science in the world and particularly in accord with recommendations made by the foremost experts comprising the League of Nations gold committees of 1931 and 1932

But first of all for those who wish to know how the gold now in the treasury is pledged it is necessary to read the text of an all important and very carefully worded paragraph in the gold reserve act passed by congress and then approved by President Roosevelt on April 20 1934 It is as follows

Section 6 Except to the extent permitted in regulations which may be issued hereunder by the secretary of the treasury with the approval of the President no currency of the United States shall be redeemed in gold provided however that gold certificates owned by the federal reserve banks shall be redeemed at such times and in such amounts as in the judgment of the secretary of the treasury are necessary to maintain the equal purchasing power of every kind of currency of the United States

And provided further that the reserve for United States notes and for treasury notes of 1890 and the security for gold certificates (including the gold certificates held in the treasury for which gold bullion equal to the dollar amounts required by law and the reserve for federal reserve notes shall be maintained in gold certificates or in credits payable in gold certificates maintained with the treasurer of the United States under section 16 of the federal reserve act as heretofore and by this act amended

It is significant to observe the use of the words security for gold certificates which must be maintained in gold bullion equal to the dollar amounts required by law and a dollar is defined by the same law to be one containing the present gold content

The same law provides that if the weight of the gold dollar should at any time be further reduced the resulting increase in value of the gold held by the United States shall be covered into the treasury as a miscellaneous receipt

Thus it would be within the power of congress to devalue the dollar still further but it may well be argued that no currency is sound which is faced with such uncertainties as which has been wrongly devalued since 1934 Nevertheless the point cannot be denied that the gold reserve act of 1934 is responsible for the use of the gold bullion as collateral for gold certificates when only the gold content of the dollar is fixed not stabilized

Now finally on this point to the gold bullion itself remains in the treasury but the gold certificates which are in the nature of a payment made for the gold seized in 1933 and turned over by citizens through the member banks of the federal reserve system and through that instrumentality to the treasury itself The federal reserve banks hold the new certificates in trust for all those who have currency in their pocket or in bank accounts

Only the small profit amounting to about $2,150,000,000 came into the treasury free and clear of obligation to serve as collateral The $7,000,000,000 of gold bullion now in the treasury and represented by gold certificates either already issued or about to be distributed to the twelve federal reserve banks is held in trust for the benefit of a sound monetary system

The new gold certificates differ from those yellow back gold certificates which used to be in general circulation prior to April 1933 Those latter were really demand notes on the treasury redeemable at any time in gold coin It is interesting to quote in this connection a recommendation of the League of Nations gold committee in 1932 on the subject of methods of economizing gold

That in all countries where gold is in active circulation or kept in the vaults of commercial banks it could be withdrawn into the reserves of the central banks and replaced by notes

Also it is interesting to quote from another document issued by the League of Nations giving the view of a member of the gold delegation Dr Feliks Mlynarski of Poland who wrote

A similar gold currency i.e. the circulation of gold certificates fully covered by gold a form of currency greatly employed in the United States of America Any further postponement of the gradual extinction of this form of gold circulation is indefensible

The circulation of gold certificates is tantamount in practice to that of gold coin and the concentration of gold at the central banks is therefore incomplete to the extent to which there are gold certificates in circulation If America were an isolated island she could afford to continue to maintain this costly form of monetary circulation But as she is not she should, in her own interest withdraw these certificates as rapidly as possible in order to coordinate her bullion policy with that of the rest of the world

What has happened exactly in line with the foregoing recommendation America called in her old form of gold certificates in 1933 and issued a new type

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON Feb 11—The upper strata of diplomacy here has picked up some surprising information lately about secret European agreements Most of it cannot be confirmed of course When nations get together in secret military alliances to divide the spoils of expected war they do not call in witnesses

For instance Britain is supposed to have succeeded in getting an agreement from the Mediterran an powers to support the British fleet in event Italy attacks British men-of-war

Turkey's secret price for placing its ports and fleet at British disposal is said to have been the return to Turkey of the six fortified Dodecanese Islands which Italy took in the war of 1912 Greece is supposed to have been promised some of the other Dodecanese What Yugoslavias share was to be has not yet been made clear But at the existing values of Mediterranean support you may be sure it was not trivial

System

These reports betray the probable existence of a secret spoils diplomacy exactly like that upon which Italy is now basing her Ethiopian campaign She wants the dark meat in the Ethiopian turkey which she claims she was promised by the British and French for coming into the World war on the side of the allies

Whether the reports are entirely accurate is not as important now as the fact that such reports are filling the rarified air of diplomacy and are accepted as probably being true by persons of great responsibility

Economy

An influential congressional clique remained on the front pages for weeks but fell with promises to balance the budget He was going to organize a congressional rebellion against spending Unfortunately he became ill and has not been able to rebel

What his associates have accomplished so far in the way of revolt may be measured accurately by the handling of the first government appropriations for the treasury and postoffice departments of Mr Morgenthau and Postmaster General Farley

Mr Morgenthau's money requests were pared rather than slashed The extent was $6,000,000 leaving him a paltry $212,000,000 to carry on More than half the paring came out of the internal revenue bureau thus preventing Mr Morgenthau from carrying out his grand idea of chasing taxpayers in a bigger and better way next year Enlargement of most of his other bureaus was permitted

Farley's desires were cut $1,000,000 to about $989,600,000 which happens to be $30,000,000 more than he got last year The excuse for the increase is that business is going to be better

Both Mr Morgenthau and Mr Farley were authorized to hire approximately 5,000 more employes

Power-Balancing

You may have noticed remarkably little reaction in Washington lately to Far Eastern developments This does not mean a lack of interest.

The fact is Russia and Japan seem to be offsetting each other out there in a very satisfactory way which does not require much Anglo American reaction The Russians are restraining the Japanese and vice versa That situation is likely to continue As long as it does, the quiet American policy will be to play one against the other, and hope that neither succeeds

Navy experts believe that the London agreement to swap information about shipbuilding plans really amounts to something What led up to it was this

The Italians have been building two cruisers for some time now All the efforts of other nations failed to develop the facts about them The British admiralty is supposed to have tried harder than the rest to pierce the ring of Fascist steel with which Mussolini surrounds his ship yards

Likewise Germany has proved her ability actually to conceal submarines

Notes

One Democrat is still running on the 1932 platform Representative George Huddleston of Alabama As an opponent of the holding companies bill and others he announced his candidacy on that platform

The senate has passed the Van Nuys bill making it an offense for an employer to intimidate or coerce voters The house is going to pass it Certain strategists in the Roosevelt camp ordered it as a reprisal against the Liberty League

Spender Harry Hopkins is supposed to have no political acumen but he has been playing political ball very closely with congressmen lately For instance he promised to pay WPA workers in Massachusetts attorney salels on the protest of congressmen

NEW YORK Feb 11—They were talking of amusing true stories This festival of one a few years ago which came in the mail today is my notion of the all time high

J P Morgan the elder was coming to tea at the Dwight Morrows when the present Ann Lindbergh was a little girl in pigtail Fearing the frankness of childhood Mrs Morrow had the governess bring little Ann to her for a talk

Very gently the mother explained Now dear I think I should tell you that when Mr Morgan calls and you are presented you will notice he is a rich big man with a very large nose I need not tell you it is rude to comment on any personal things about people you meet anything peculiar

So of course if you notice Mr Morgan's nose is different you won't say anything about it Just class for a few moments and make your curtsey because Nurse will be waiting for you to take your nap Upon meeting the famous guest Ann fixed her eyes relentlessly on the celebrated nose

Her mother noted this with trepidation but it seemed nothing distressing would be said Mr Morgan uttered the usual kindly little commonplaces Mrs Morrow's fingers hovered a bit nervously over her tea accoutrement as she tried not too obviously to speed Ann's departure

At last the child was gone — safely gone Mrs Morrow breathed an inner sigh of relief and drawing some tea into a cup she asked her visitor with a new complacency And now Mr Morgan will you have cream or lemon in your rose?

Doubts Levy Would Carry

Mayor Smith expressed the opinion that a special tax levy considered as a possible means of relieving the city's needs would be voted down if submitted to the people. We can't make the people pass it and I don't believe they would, he said. "The trouble doesn't lie in the lack of taxes but in the allocation of taxes. Certain subdivisions are getting more money than they asked for this year.

The mayor pledged that regardless of the seriousness of the problem the city will be provided with police and fire protection. Don't let anyone tell you that either of these departments will be closed, he said.

Many of the mayor's statements explaining the financial outlook were directed to a group of men from Oakland Heights who asked that a traffic light be installed at Davids street and Bellefontaine avenue and that a fire truck from the central station be housed in Oakland Heights to provide better fire protection. He also directed part of his talk to F. R. Nicklas of Mansfield district WPA engineer who sought the city's help in financing WPA projects.

Mayor Smith said he personally is in favor of the requests presented by these men but the financial condition of the city makes it impossible to consider any expenditures for them.

Members of Delegation

The request for improvements in Oakland Heights were presented by Ralph Shafer, A. C. Vogt, Limer Finch and Gayle Owens representing the Oakland Booster club.

Because of last minute changes made in an ordinance to place the municipal waterworks purchase proposal on the May 19 primary ballots the ordinance was not read last night but was held over to a later meeting.

Council voted additional appropriations to pay the city health nurse's salary and employes at the City hospital for January. Their salaries were omitted by oversight when appropriations for January salaries of other officials and employes were voted.

NATIVE OF CHINA TO SPEAK AT SCHOOL

Sister Maurice Clet Will Appear Before Pupils, Parents Wednesday

Sister Maurice Clet, native of Wuchang, China, and a novice at Mt. St. Joseph-on-the-Ohio near Cincinnati, will speak to the pupils at St. Mary's parochial school Wednesday on the work of the mission in China. She will remain in Marion until the latter part of the week and go to Kenton before returning to Cincinnati.

Sister Maurice Clet has been at the Mount for two years and will remain at least another year before returning to her home to take up her religious work. She will bring with her an exhibit of the work done at the mission centers in Wuchang. She was a visitor to the Eucharistic congress held last year at Cleveland and appeared on some of the programs in the interest of the mission work in her country. She will be accompanied here by Sister Austin of Cincinnati.

Pupils of the first grade will present a program as a welcome to Sister Maurice Wednesday morning at the school and parents are invited to visit the school and hear one or more of her talks.

Instead of dismissing school for the holiday Wednesday the school pupils will present programs in observance of Lincoln's birthday and spend a part of the day in preparing for the second annual school bazaar to be held Thursday afternoon and night. Pupils will be in charge of the various booths and concessions which will occupy the basement and first and second floors of the school building.

The bazaar will be open to the school children and adults in the afternoon. At night the doors will open at 7 p. m. Aside from the concessions which will include food and refreshments there will be games, merchandise and a booth of religious articles.

LAWRENCE REVIEWS CURRENCY SITUATION

which is not allowed in general circulation at all. The new certificates are being deposited and held in the twelve federal reserve bank. These reserve banks together with the government controlled federal reserve board now constitute America's central banking system analogous to the central banks abroad.

The new gold certificates are the basis for currency issued through the federal reserve banks. The federal reserve banks could issue if there were sound demand nearly $6,000,000,000 worth of currency against a gold backing of 100 per cent gold certificates or they could issue two and a half times their $6,000,000,000 namely about $20,000,000,000 in currency if all the gold certificates were to be regarded as a 40 per cent basic reserve. Against the remaining 60 per cent however government bonds or eligible commercial paper would have to be set up as collateral in order to justify any such currency expansion.

There is actually about $5,700,000,000 of currency outstanding today which is more than was in circulation in 1929 when we had better business conditions than we have today. The persons who are wedded to the so-called quantity theory of money always contending that there is not enough currency in circulation are forgetful of the fact that purchasing power and prosperity come out of the velocity of money—its rate of turnover.

MID-WEEK SERVICE PLANNED AT CHURCH

Planning Your Life will be the topic for a young peoples' night mid week service Wednesday night at the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church. After the meeting the young people will be invited to join the church's Dramatic Service club which has been organized to present plays, pageants and programs.

The church's free for-all party will be held Friday night with Mrs. H. E. Winters chairman for a pot luck supper at 6:30 and Ernest Williamson in charge of entertainment.

KING'S DAUGHTERS ENROLL MEMBER

Mrs. Mildred Ulsh was enrolled as a new member at a meeting of the Circle of Light, King's Daughters, last night at the home of Mrs. Leona Long of Powhatan street. Mrs. Jeannette Garfield presented the Bible story of "The Four Beasts" and Mrs. Mildred Berry was in charge of the Bible questions. The hostess was assisted in serving a lunch by Mrs. Catherine Larson. A work meeting was set for Feb. 24 at the home of Mrs. Mildred Berry of 218 Cummin avenue and the next meeting March 9 at the home of Mrs. Marguerite Eaton of Olney avenue.

FOREST LAWN TEAM GETS NEW UNIFORMS

Members of the senior basketball team of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church were presented new uniforms by the Forest Lawn Men's club at a monthly meeting of 62 members and guests last night at the community house. The team will appear in the new uniforms for a game tonight at the Y. M. C. A. with a team from the Emanuel Lutheran church.

Next Monday night the club will serve a public oyster supper to raise funds to complete paying for the uniforms and for other athletic activities of the church.

Leo Pennock president of the club presided for the meeting which opened with selections by the Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Gail McClellan.

The First United Brethren church men's glee club gave a program of songs including sacred selections, Negro spirituals and old favorite popular songs. B. K. Hill directed the club. Mrs. James O'Dowd was pianist for the orchestra and glee club.

Ed Ankney was chairman of a committee in charge of refreshments.

S. D. Ross was appointed chairman of refreshments for the next meeting on March 9.

WASHINGTON PARTY PLANNED BY LODGE

Plans were discussed for a Washington's birthday party at the next meeting Feb. 24 at a meeting of Minnetonka Council No. 24 Daughters of America last night in the Junior Order hall. The business session was followed by a lunch. A meeting of the Past Pocahontas association will be held Monday at 3 p. m. in the Junior Order hall and will be followed by a potluck supper. In the evening a card party will be held for members and friends.

Marion P.-T. A. Prepares Founders' Day Program

Parent Teacher association units throughout the city will join for a founders' day program Thursday night at 7:30 at the Central Junior High school. The general public and former officers have been especially invited.

A pageant, "The Garden of the P. T. A." will be a highlight. Rev. James O. Dodd of the Central Christian church will be the leader and at the close of the pageant the flowers which have been planted will be sold by B. L. Hill to raise funds for state and national extension work.

An acorn representing the P. T. A. tree will be planted first with a combined Mother Singers chorus singing "The Tree of the P. T. A." The other flowers to be planted will be as follows:

Madonna lily for mothers, Jack in the-pulpit, for fathers, baby breath children in the home, pansies thoughts gleaned from the P. T. A. magazine, trumpet vine publicity, larkspur membership hopes, bleeding heart, membership disappointments, lady slipper hospitality and social committee, shepherd's purse finance, dandelions and daffodils, laughter of little children, rose, Marion.

When the rose is planted the Mother Singers will sing "Marion My Marion" which was written for the city's centennial in 1923, by Miss Isabelle Virginia Freeland.

Mrs. E. H. Morgan will give a tribute to the founders of the city's first community club and the first city P. T. A. council and Mrs. J. M. Quigley will review the council projects up to the present time.

Women dressed in colonial costumes will serve as ushers and while patrons are being seated the school music department will furnish music under the direction of L. G. Jones, music supervisor.

Mrs. Chester C. Roberts will be in charge of the social hour, which will be held in the upstairs hall. Valentine cookies and coffee will be served.

Mrs. W. E. Orcutt, chairman of arrangements, has been assisted with the program by all the units in the city.

Interest in Ping Pong Continues To Increase

Ping pong activity at the Y. M. C. A. is being continued on an increased schedule. Two business men's leagues are already in operation and entrants completed the first round of play last week. Ten additional registrations have been received for the third league which will begin competition in the near future.

A new regulation table the gift of A. L. Holloway, has been added to those already in use at the Y. and players keep the Y. facilities taxed to the limit with game being played every hour of the day and night that the recreation center is open.

Plans are being made for a pyramid ping pong tourney with an entry list of 96 persons. The tournament is open to anyone over 18 years of age and present plans indicate that enough entries will be filed within the week to begin play. Players draw for initial positions in the eight brackets of the league. Players in any bracket may challenge any contestant in the two brackets above and by winning exchanges positions with the winner. Climbing to the top of the pyramid, the holder of the top position must continue to play any persons in the two rows immediately below upon receiving a challenge. The tournament continues on the same basis until a predetermined date set at the time the league starts. The person in the top spot at the finish is declared the winner and will be given a suitable award.

Boys clubs of the Y. have already begun to formulate plans for tournaments among their organization members and several have already started playing on a regular schedule.

Standings in the two business men's leagues already organized were issued for the first round of play. Games played by league members early this week will not be included in the standings until next week. In the western division Paul Bachman has been substitute for A. L. Holloway who recently left Marion for several weeks vacation in Florida.

Standings of the players at the completion of the first round follow:

Western Division	W.	L.	Eastern Division	W.	L.
A. Kelt	1	0	J. Katle	1	0
Reckling	1	0	Adler	1	0
*Bellows	1	0	Grissing	1	0

EDISON JUNIOR PLAY SET FOR MARCH 27

"New Fires" Chosen for Annual Class Production. Tryouts Started

Friday, March 27 is the date chosen for presentation of the annual junior class play, "A Thomas A. Edison High school" it was announced today by Miss Grace Kline, a member of the faculty under whose direction the play will be given.

"New Fires" by Charles Quimby Burdette has been selected for this year's offering. The cast to find a 15 characters and an additional scene for a generous number of extras.

Approximately 70 pupils will enter the tryouts which were begun yesterday. The work of selecting the cast will begin immediately following completion of the tryouts which probably will be the latter part of the week. Miss Kline stated.

The play is by the same author as "Shirt Sleeves," the production which won such high success for the junior class of two years ago. It is a domestic comedy in three acts, modern in theme and lines. Garrett H. Leverton of Northwestern university classified the play as one of the best for high schools which have come to my desk, and Hatcher Hughes of Columbia university places play in the front ranks of school productions. The play is a new one having been released only last year.

THIEF REPENTS AND SAYS HE WILL PAY

Special to The Star

GALION, Feb. 11—H. Kyle Cooper, lunch room manager here who had money taken from his cash register and food from the lunch room when he gave the keys of his place to a supposed decorator and painter, received a card from the decorator this week. The man who had given his name as Harry H. Harden stated on the card that he would reimburse Mr. Cooper for that which had been taken. Harden mailed the card from Columbus.

CLOSING DATE SET BY SCHOOLS

Summer Vacation Will Begin June 5; Classes To Suspend Week at Easter.

Marion public schools will close the 1935-36 school year on Friday, June 5. It was decided at a meeting of the board of education last night in the office of Supt. C. A. Hindson.

Easter vacation was set for the week of April 5 classes to be resumed on Monday, April 13.

The issuing of seven notes for $5,000 each, to be used when and as needed," was authorized to finance the city schools until funds are received from the state and county. The notes will be issued against anticipate tax revenue and will be retired when the tax funds are received. School board members said they did not anticipate issuance of more than $35,000 of the $35,000 in notes. The same procedure of issuing notes was followed last year. It was explained.

By issuing the notes, the board will be able to meet the February bills of $5,124.35 and the teachers' payroll due Feb. 26.

The sum of $250 was voted the service fund for the use of board members when on public school business.

Completion of the stadium and of interior painting at the Vernon Heights, Mark street and North Main street buildings was discussed as was the installing of lights for night football games at the Harding stadium, but no action was taken.

The resignation of Miss Gleda McMahan, a teacher at the Oakland school who is now teaching in Willoughby, was formally accepted.

The next meeting of the board will be held on March 9.

WHEAT PRICES CLIMB IN FINAL DEALINGS

Advance Following Setback in Line with Spurt on Winnipeg Market.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 11—Recovering late today from price downturns, wheat ruled generally higher.

Advances were in line with action at Winnipeg where rallies took place following declines to a new low price record for the season. Export purchases of 500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were announced, and it was stated that selling attributed to the Canadian government wheat board was only in amounts sufficient to offset takings by shippers.

Wheat closed firm at the same as yesterday's finish to ½ cent higher. May 97⅞@97⅝, corn ⅛ to ¼ up, May 60⅝, oats unchanged to ¼ advance, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents decline.

DIONNE UP IN ARMS OVER STRIP OF LAND

Says Government Took It Without Attempting To Negotiate With Him.

By The Associated Press

CALLANDER, Ont., Feb. 11 — Oliva Dionne says the Ontario government has expropriated seven and a half acres of his land without making an attempt to negotiate with him for its purchase.

The father of the quintuplets made plans immediately to contest the government's reported action.

Dionne said he understood the government plans a public park in the area, which includes the land occupied by the Dafoe hospital, home of the quintuplets, and the Dionne farm home where the children were born.

In addition to the land on which the hospital, built with Dionne's permission, stands, a strip 200 feet deep on the south side of the road running past the hospital is included. It is on this strip that Dionne's home and farm buildings stand.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 11—David Croll, chief guardian for the Dionne quintuplets, said today that a souvenir stand so close to the Dafoe hospital that the Dionne quintuplets "could smell hot dogs cooking" led the Ontario government, in behalf of the guardians, to start expropriation proceedings for acquiring the land with a 200-foot frontage from the owner, Alex Legros.

Another piece of property of similar frontage on the opposite side of the hospital across the road from the Dionne home is being acquired from Olivia Dionne, the father of the babies, by expropriation proceedings, Croll said.

In each case, Judge T. F. Battle of North Bay will fix the price and the land will be paid for by the guardians.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio. Case No. 24224.

Chas. D. Schaffner, Receiver of The Citizens' Building & Loan Company, Plaintiff, vs. Eugene Harmon, et al., Defendants.

In pursuance of an Order of Sale issued from said Court to me directed in the above entitled action, I will expose to sale, at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Marion, Marion County, Ohio, on Saturday, the 7th day of March, 1936, at 10 o'clock A. M., the following described real estate, situate in the County of Marion, State of Ohio, and in the Village of Marion, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

Keyless Auto Door Lock Invented by Marion Youth

An automobile door lock designed by George N. Harden, 19-year-old Marion boy, because he became tired of having automobile keys made to replace the ones his father lost from time to time, will be demonstrated to Detroit automobile manufacturers this week in the hope of selling the design to them.

Planning to leave for Detroit today, Harden has a model of the lock made showing how it would apply to an automobile door. Harden used ordinary automobile door handles in assembling the model, and outwardly the model resembles any other door handle excepting that it has no slot for a key.

By depressing a plunger on the portion of the door inside the automobile, Harden showed how the door could be locked until the outside handle is given a certain number of turns and engaged with the latch. To all appearances, the turning of the outside door handle to operate the lock resembles the operation of a combination lock. However, Harden says his lock can not be called correctly a combination lock.

There are no "clicks" on Harden's lock as on the conventional combination lock. He says no sense of feeling or touch is required—only a sense of position and knowledge of a secret "combination" of turns of the handle are necessary.

Its use, Harden asserts, is virtually unlimited. He said it can be used for automobile doors, ignition and tire locks and equally well on house doors and other places where locks of conventional design are used.

Simplicity of construction is one of the features he believes will assure his lock a popular reception among manufacturers. He said there are 12 parts, 11 of which could be made by stamping or punching. He estimates the locks could be made commercially for only a few cents each. The lock is all metal and requires no springs.

Although Harden said the lock design is protected, he refused to describe the internal parts of it in detail.

He said he decided a year ago to try his hand at designing a keyless lock after his father, from time to time, lost a number of automobile keys. First he worked out the plan on paper and then assembled the model, finishing it last November. Since then he has made several others, installing one of them on the door of the piano shop of his father, E. H. Harden, where he has worked for several years.

Variety Possible

Harden said he can make the lock now as small as a half dollar in diameter and an inch in thickness.

The "combination" of positions of the door handle necessary to operate the lock can be varied, but a three-position combination is used on his model. He said approximately 12,000 different combinations are possible with the three-position plan. The use of four-position or larger combinations would make possible a larger number of variations, but that, he believes, is not necessary.

Harden was graduated from Harding High school in 1934. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harden of 559 East Church street.

King of Hoboes "Het Up" About California Ban

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 10—Jeff Davis, "king of hobos," said today he is "all het up" about "this business of trying to keep the 'bo out of California."

"Why, say!" he exploded, anent the recently inaugurated border patrol campaign by the city of Los Angeles to "save California" from the itinerant, "it was itinerant men and women who made California what it is right now!"

Word from Los Angeles indicated Davis had instructed lawyers representing the "International Itinerant Workers' union" to "see that the constitutional rights of the hoboes are not violated."

"That's right," declared the wiry and greying little leader of an asserted membership of 811,000. "It was 'California or bust' in the old days.

"And now, they're trying to 'bust' the hobo. Now the police stand at state lines and keep out American citizens who have their constitutional rights to go to any part of the country, as long as they are seeking opportunity and the chance to make good."

MRS. ANNA GREY MEEKER HOSTESS

MEEKER, Feb. 11—The monthly meeting of the Meeker Ladies' Aid society was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Anna Grey. A basket dinner was served in cafeteria style. Twenty-two members and two guests were present. During the meeting a scripture was read by Mrs. LaVonne Cooper. A prayer was repeated by Mrs. Haze) Parish. The day was spent in piecing quilt blocks.

The monthly meeting of the P.-T. A. was held Thursday night at the Meeker High school auditorium. A pageant was presented by members of the school board, faculty, and P.-T. A. in honor of the anniversary of the association. A reading was given by Miss Ruth Mawer and music by Mrs. McKelvy and Mrs. Salters. A talk on the founding of the P.-T. A. was given by William Sloat Jr., and a vocal duet by Misses Esther Wiley and Virginia Forrey. Miss Iva Mawer played a piano solo. A violin-guitar duet was given by Miss Evabel and Delmar Hickman. After the meeting refreshments were served.

PART OF COZY INN LOOT RECOVERED

A part of the lot stolen at Cozy Inn at Big Island Friday night was recovered yesterday by Elza Kress, proprietor, Sheriff Fred F. Miller reported today.

Checks totaling $222.80 and approximately half of the $68 missing were found by Mr. Kress in a vegetable basket in his storeroom, which is in connection with the Inn. Mr. Kress, who found the checks and money in a billfold while cleaning the storeroom yesterday said the thief apparently became frightened, thinking the loss would be discovered, and stuffed the billfold, after taking part of the money out, in the basket.

Tuberculosis Diet.

"Will you please send me a list of foods suitable for the sufferer from tuberculosis?" This is a question I am frequently asked. Everyone who cares for a tuberculosis patient faces the problem of proper feeding.

Before discussing the diet let us briefly consider the disease, Tuberculosis, or consumption, is characterized by a cough which "cannot be shaken." Generally, abundant expectoration accompanies the cough. The victim loses weight, complains of pain in the chest, and is always tired.

Young people who are undernourished are in danger of developing tuberculosis. They have lowered vitality and diminished resistance to disease. Women both young and old who diet strenuously without the advice of a physician often become "run-down" in health and vigor. They face great danger of contracting the disease.

For many years forced feeding was advocated for the sufferer from tuberculosis. The diet consisted chiefly of milk and eggs. Today, we know that a well-balanced diet containing all the vital food elements plays an important role in the cure of the disease.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Junior Is Thrilled at Sight of Great Stone Face.

I DO NOT think it matters whether one sees the old man of the mountain for the first time or the thousandth, the effect of mystic grandeur, of eternal, inscrutable majesty, is the same when it breaks across one's vision for the first time, or when it comes as a well-remembered and beloved recurrence.

Katherine, Dicky and I, who had seen it before, gave it the supreme tribute of caught-in breathe and silence. Even Junior was bereft of speech for a second, then he uttered his inevitable "Oh! Gee!" but with a rapt intonation that showed how much the sight of that majestic face, carven by eternal forces, had impressed his young soul.

Across the lake the mountain rose, a mass of jagged rock through the crevices of which plants, bushes, even trees, were growing.

"Mums! Dad! Aunt Katherine!" Junior meticulously named us all as he finally broke the silence which had succeeded his first exclamation.

Just Like Story

"Yes, son." Dicky's tone was indulgent, and Katherine and I smiled at the eager little chap.

"It's just like the story, isn't it? I can just see all the people sitting around and then shouting that Ernest looked like the face. Gee! Mr. Hawthorne must have looked at it from over here, don't you think so?"

"I'm sure he did, dear," I said quickly, and he breathed another awed "Oh! Gee!

But awe is not an emotion held by any small boy for any length of time, and we were not surprised a minute later when he turned eagerly to his father with an importunate plea.

"Dad, kin I look through the telescope? Kin I, Dad?"

Dicky looked inquiringly at me, but I had no answer to give him. I knew why he was hesitating in granting the boy's request, but I could not help him, for my uncertainty was as great as his.

"Did you ever hear that 'distance lends enchantment to the view'?" Dicky asked quizzically.

Junior's face was blank for an instant, then it quickened into comprehension as he shook his head.

"No, I didn't," he said, "but I see what it means. Doesn't the face look as beautiful through the telescope?"

Junior Decides

"Some people think and say it does," Dicky answered honestly, "while others have been disappointed when they had a closer view. You must decide for yourself."

His dictum was in line with the course we always follow with both Junior and Roderick. There are so many "musts" which have to be given to children, that wherever it is possible we give them the utmost freedom of decision, not even proffering advice unless they ask it.

I knew that Dicky, in his quotation, had overstepped his own limits of restraint, and that he would say no further word concerning the telescope view of the face.

Junior wrapped himself in thought for almost half a minute.

"You can almost hear the wheels go round," Katherine murmured, and I caught back a smile just in time to escape Junior's notice.

View Disappoints

"Well! I guess I might as well try the old telescope," he said, swaggering a bit to cover the indecision which I intuitively felt was his. He put his hand into his pocket, but Dicky held out a coin to him.

"This is my treat today, Son," he said. "Your money's no good. Put it up."

"Gee! Dad! Thanks a lot. You're swell!" he said fervently, taking the coin and dashing toward the telescope.

While Katherine and I watched his eager young figure, Dicky followed him to the telescope and helped him to adjust the sights. He gazed through it, for what seemed to us an interminably long time, and when he turned away there was disappointment in every line of his face.

"Why! It's just a lot of rocks," he said dejectedly. "It doesn't look like a face at all."

Dicky came to the rescue promptly.

"It isn't as bad as that, Son," he said. "Come back, and I'll show you how to look at the different rocks that make up the face."

The two went back together, and we heard Dicky painstakingly pointing out the rocks which formed the brow of the face, and those which outlined the other features. Junior listened dutifully, but, as we could see, half-heartedly, and his "Yes, I see," as his father finished, was a dejected affair.

"Come back and look at it the way you did before," Dicky said, but the boy drew back as if instinctively, and I wondered if he had spoiled for himself a memorable picture.
